

FREEDOM OF INFORMATION ACT 2000

Your request for information has now been considered and the Council's response to your questions is shown below.

You asked:

Can you confirm that Leicester City Council do not sell any of the information gathered via electoral registration?

I have heard that the information harvested via this means is sold on to other parties. If this is the case, can you tell me who Leicester City Council give the information to, and also how much they charge for the information?

Each year following the electoral register annual canvass, a revised register is published (this would normally be on the 1st December).

This is available for sale in two formats.

The full register is available to such organisations as credit reference agencies and will be used for anti-fraud purposes.

The edited register is available to any other organisation or individual and is generally used for research or marketing purposes.

The cost will depend on which register is sold and whether it is for the whole City or a part thereof. The cost is based on a set method that comes from the Government.

Attached is a schedule of sales for 2011/12 up to February 2012. Please note some personal details have been taken out and we are withholding that information since we consider that to be an absolute exemption under section 40(2) (personal data), and this therefore constitutes a refusal under section 17 of the Freedom of information Act 2000.

Note reference the edited register:- this is where electors choose for their details NOT to be sold on to third parties and therefore this version of the register excludes details of those electors.

Note reference details sold:- the register will run in street order within a District/Ward/City and list residents who appear on said register. No additional detail gathered at canvass time such as e-mail address/telephone number/ is included.

The legislation allows you to use the information supplied for your own personal use. Please be aware that any commercial or other use, for example publication, sale, or redistribution may be a breach of copyright under the Copyright, Designs and Patents Act 1988 as amended unless you obtain the copyright holder's prior permission.

Not all the information that is supplied which is covered by copyright will be the Council's copyright, for example it may be the copyright of a government department or another Council. You should seek either the Council's consent or their consent as appropriate. The Council is willing to advise you of any such potential issues on request. In order to make a request to re-use the information please contact the Information Governance Manager using the details below.
