

FREEDOM OF INFORMATION ACT 2000

Your request for information has now been considered and the Council's response to your questions is shown below.

You asked:

Could you please supply me with the number of pupils who were paid compensation in the academic year (2010/11) for playground accidents and classroom accidents?

Can you supply information about what each payment was for, how much compensation was paid, and which schools each accident occurred in?

Can you supply the same information for the previous academic year?

Please find the relevant information attached.

We are unable to provide the name of the school as this could identify the pupil the compensation payment refers to particularly when involving a small school. We would also comment that no school had more than one incident in reference to these payments.

The following exemption applies:
S40 Personal Information

S40 applies to third party personal data. This would not be released under the Freedom of Information Act. This is because any release would breach the Data Protection Principles contained within the Data Protection Act (1998).

One of the main differences between the Data Protection Act (1998) and the Freedom of Information Act (2000) is that any information released under FOI is released into the public domain, not just to the individual requesting the information.

As such, any release that identifies an individual through releasing their personal data, even third party personal data, is exempt.

Personal data is defined under the Data Protection Act (1998) as data that is biographical in nature, has the applicant as its focus and/or affects the data subject's privacy in his or her personal, professional or business life.

The legislation allows you to use the information supplied for your own personal use. Please be aware that any commercial or other use, for example publication, sale, or redistribution may be a breach of copyright under the Copyright, Designs and Patents Act 1988 as amended unless you obtain the copyright holder's prior permission.

Not all the information that is supplied which is covered by copyright will be the Council's copyright, for example it may be the copyright of a government department or another Council. You should seek either the Council's consent or their consent as appropriate. The Council is willing to advise you of any such potential issues on request. In order to make a request to re-use the information please contact the Head of Information Governance using the details below.
